“Understanding Blueprints and Specifications in New Home Construction”

Course Description: The real estate agent and appraiser will have a clear understanding of how a new home is built from the planning stages to completion. The attendee will benefit by properly understanding the exterior elements of construction, electrical and plumbing systems, and other components which will be discussed and identified via a lecture format and power point presentation.

Instructor: Joe Baratta, who has been in the construction business for many years and is the owner of Baratta Realty in Rockland County. In addition, he teaches real estate classes for various providers throughout the Hudson Valley.
